Managing Director of Local Affairs, DriveOhio

Andrew Bremer is the Managing Director of Local Affairs for DriveOhio, interfacing with Ohio communities and ensuring the coordinated implementation of DriveOhio's automated and connected vehicle standards. He manages the I-70 Truck Automation Corridor and the US-33 Smart Mobility Corridor, coordinating public sector response to private sector development and testing needs. He also represents DriveOhio on behalf of the Ohio Department of Transportation with the Smart Belt Coalition, a regional collaborative for smart transportation that includes Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey. Andrew resides in central Ohio with his wife and two children. He hopes that automated technology will allow him to one day pull into the driveway without destroying his children's favorite outdoor toys.
