

Altitude™

by GEOTAB

Chris Wichman, Business Development Manager, Altitude by Geotab

A professional transportation planner with over 10 years of experience, Chris specializes in leveraging commercial vehicle data to drive informed decision-making for public agencies, consulting firms, and commercial clients. He has led regional and statewide transportation planning efforts, managed corridor studies, and championed innovative, data-driven approaches to address complex transportation challenges. His expertise lies in applying cutting-edge decision-support tools and methodologies that help clients optimize transportation networks and achieve their business objectives.