

Clay Finken

Director, Erie-Ottawa International Airport (KPCW)

Clay Finken currently serves as Director of the Erie-Ottawa International Airport (KPCW) in Port Clinton, OH. A publicly owned & operated GA airport, KPCW supports tens of thousands of operations per year and over 100 based aircraft. The airport is heavily leaning into advanced technology to leverage the services it provides, including Advanced Air Mobility.

Clay is a 2012 graduate of The Ohio State University who has worked his entire career in the public sector. Relatively new to aviation, he was named the 2025 OAA Airport Manager of the Year.
