

Madison Corbi, Demand & Market Development Manager, Ohio Soybean Council

Madison Corbi serves as the manager of demand and market development for the Ohio Soybean Council. She joined the OSC team in June of 2021 and was promoted to her current role in September of 2022. Madison's responsibilities include increasing global market access for Ohio soybeans and increasing customer awareness of the value and preference for high quality Ohio soybeans. She also monitors the domestic biofuels and animal agriculture markets to seek opportunities for growth in those industries for Ohio. Madison earned a Bachelor of Science from The Ohio State University in May 2021.
